Career Services at the University of California, Santa Barbara prepares undergraduate and graduate students for a successful transition between their college experience and life beyond the university. As a department within the Division of Student Affairs, we are a centralized unit charged with helping students determine and fulfill their career goals through a variety of specialized programs, services, and resources. Our core function is to provide the career education, knowledge, and confidence so that all students and recent graduates may discover the talents to address the challenges of the world through their career pursuits.

This strategic plan is the result of extensive preparation and thoughtful collaboration with the Career Services staff, Don Lubach, PhD., Associate Dean of Students, and various key campus constituents. It provides a summary of the overall strategic direction of Career Services for the next 3 years. New departmental Mission, Vision, and Values statements have been established to reflect a more accurate role of career services at the university. After extensive benchmarking and review of the career services literature, six Strategic Priorities, along with goals and success factors have been identified to steer the strategic direction and inform the decision making of the department. It is important to note that continued assessment is at the core of all the programs and services offered by Career Services. Therefore, the Strategic Priorities and the goals for each will naturally be subjected to the same rigorous assessment to ensure quality and course correction when necessary.

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

- Promote undergraduate and graduate students’ career readiness through career education, programming, and counseling to assist in a successful transition into post-graduate opportunities.
- Promote experiential learning (internships, research, and campus involvement) to complement academic preparation and enhance student employability.
- Cultivate and strengthen new and relationships with employers and alumni to connect undergraduate and graduate students with relevant employment opportunities.

MISSION
To educate and empower all students and recent graduates to prepare for and pursue success.

VISION
To inspire students to explore and gain knowledge of their occupational goals, to attain competencies and relevant experiences, to develop professional relationships, and to apply their education and unique attributes to address the needs and challenges of the world through their work.

OUR VALUES
Balance
Research provides evidence that there is value in work-life balance: that work, family, and community are equal and critical components to a healthy and rewarding life. Therefore, we endeavor to model this value by providing quality service to students while maintaining energy and commitment to other areas of our lives. Doing so brings a sense of light-heartedness to our work.

Growth
We value the professional and personal development of each team member. By leveraging the vast resources of a research university, we continually strive to learn about new approaches and ideas in order to improve services and opportunities for students.

Service
We strive to understand the needs of our constituents while providing customized and thoughtful service. We approach each meaningful interaction with kindness and professionalism to find effective solutions.

Creative
We believe that stoking curiosity and encouraging individuality stimulates creativity and innovation. Through capitalizing on our professional and personal development, we adapt and refine new approaches for our students, thereby creating an environment that promotes and supports originality and imagination in our work.

Achievement
We are committed and passionate in our pursuit of excellence and strongly believe that each staff member’s accomplishments contribute directly to the overall success of the team. By empowering individuals to take ownership of their roles, each one is encouraged to be ambitious and proactive, to take initiative, and to continually contribute to our services, communications, and team dynamics.
